Lu's job Amazing bears A safe place

1 _____

There are about 1,500 wild panda bears in China. They don't live in any other part of the world. There are sanctuaries in China because pandas are in danger of extinction. Pandas only eat bamboo, but the bamboo forests are disappearing. Pandas need about 13.5 kilos of bamboo every day! Pandas eat bamboo for about 16 hours every day. When a panda isn't eating, it sleeps.

2 _____

The sanctuary is a special place. Scientists study and look after pandas there. In the future they want to put the pandas back in the bamboo forests. When baby pandas are born they weigh about 100 grams. They're tiny! Scientists look after them very carefully.

By Chinese tradition they give the baby pandas a name when they're 100 days old.

3 _____

Lu is a teacher and a tourist guide at the sanctuary. Tourists, school children and Chinese families visit the sanctuary. Lu teaches them about pandas. She loves her job.

She thinks it's very important to teach people about conservation.
