

A knight that has always protected us

Once upon a time there was a green knight that protected villages from dragons and thieves. He was brave and kind. This sounds like a fairy tale, a strange story about dragons and knights that are green, but I have heard of a brave green knight that protects the planet from plastic and climate change.

Athenea Negrín Vera, 1º ESO B

Poor creature

The day of birth is the most important day for a mother. That moment came. I wanted to see him, touch him. When I looked at him, he had a vulture eye and multiple anomalies, passing away in a few hours. It's a shame, as this was another failed experiment and I could never feel true motherhood.

Rocío Socorro García, 4º ESO A

Lost in the ceiling

It was 3 a.m. and I was awake, looking at the ceiling while crying. She was gone. I turned my head and saw her woolen shawl. Her smell on it made me remember her last words: "When you feel lost, look for me, look at the stars. You'll find me there".

Elsa Fernández Borrego, 1º Bachillerato A